Vineyard:	Sometimes vintage conditions allow us to create innovative wines, expressing the versatility of a well known varietal. Pioneering winemaker Glenn Thomas chose to create this barrel fermented wine using the grapes from Tuparis Boulder Block. This sits only 4m above the river bed. The rows are lined with the greywacke boulders that make up the soil strata. A thin top layer of silty loam provides a warm environment, resulting in early ripening and smaller berries with concentrated flavours
