Vineyard:	The Shiraz component was taken from vineyards in the southern end of the Barossa Valley, near Lyndoch, and the Eden Valley, where growing conditions are excellent for allowing the varietal characters to fully develop and produce grapes of intense concentration and flavour. Cabernet Sauvignon was sourced mainly from Barossa vineyards, with a portion coming from the cooler climate of the Coonawarra.
Vinification:	Both varieties were crushed and fermented separately and left on skins for a short time to ensure full-flavoured and soft-textured wines. The ferments were pumped over three times a day and completed primary fermentation in French and American oak, then aged for 15-18 months in old puncheons. After blending, the wine was on tirage for 18 months before being disgorged and liqueured with 1996 Vintage Port, which has contributed to the wines incredible complexity.
Appearance:	Deep ruby red
Bouquet:	Earthy on the nose
Palate:	Elegant and lively with rich fruit characters. It displays the perfect balance of acidity and fruit sweetness.
