Vineyard:	On the cool uplands of northern Provence, at 250 to 270m, a blend of Cinsault and Grenache with a touch of old vine fruit from Syrah and Cabernet Sauvignon are grown to make the ros.The clay and limestone soils further emphasise the freshness and acidity and result in a long slow maturation season and harvest dates around a month later than those on the coast. Vinification:	The majority of the blend comes from 10-year-old Cinsault vines, which are fermented at a cool 14oC in inox to preserve the fruit character. The second major variety is Grenache, a mix of old vine (50 years on the highest slopes) and young vines. A touch of depth and structure is contributed by a small percentage of old vine Cab sauv
