Vinification:	They produce Imo Shochu from freshly harvested local Kogane Sengan sweet potatoes which grow especially well in the southern Satsuma climate. This region is also famous for its very pure mineral water, and the Chiran distillery, where these Shochu are produced, is located right in the heart of where this mineral water surfaces, and where the sweet potatoes are grown.
Bouquet:	It has beautiful purity on the nose with hint of tropical fruit.
Palate:	It gives very warm and gentle mouth feel. The palate shows good balance between the gentle acidity and the sweetness, and exhibits hints of apple, pear and fennel. It is very light but lively.
