Vinification:	Believed to be a favourite of Napoleon Bonaparte. In fact, it was Napoleons physcian, Antoine-Francois de Fourcroy, who first had the idea of macerating mandarins in alcohol and then blending the distillate with cognac. Today, Mandarine Napolon is still a real conqueror. The well-known liqueur with its undisputed taste has won many international awards and is sold in 137 countries around the world. Savoured with the same pleasure as Napolon did 200 years ago.
Palate:	Mandarine Napolon is an exquisite, well-balanced blend of mandarins and refined 10-year-old aged cognac. Dating back to the early 1800s, and its roots stemming from the hands of Napolon Bonaparte, the liqueurs history is as rich as its distinctive flavor. The drink was custom made for Napolon, after the emperor came across chemist Antoine-Francois de Fourcroy, known for his extraordinary skill of distilling.
